 - weighted average of midterm exams at least 30/100
- Students with overall average under 40/100 will fail.

Important Notes

- You can follow the course announcements, your exam results and attendance status on the Ninova system (<http://ninova.itu.edu.tr/>). Check the Ninova site regularly for updates.
- Course related e-mail notifications will be sent to your ITU account, check it regularly.
- When sending e-mail to the instructors or assistants, use your ITU account and always include your full name at the end of the message.
- Attendance check will start at 15 minutes into the first course hour (at 13:45). On the classroom plan, you have to write your name and student id into the box where you sit. You also have to sign underneath your name. The attendance sheet will be checked at the end of the last course hour. You have to be present both at the start and end of the course in order to be counted as present for that week. On Ninova, you will see a "1" if you were present that week, or a "-" if you were absent. Report any errors regarding your attendance to the instructors as soon as possible. You are responsible for keeping track of your attendance record.
- If you are marked as "late" at the attendance check, you will see a "-" on Ninova. Only your first late arrival will be counted as present at the end of the term; subsequent late arrivals will be the same as absent.
- Do not be late more than 15 minutes for the first course hour, and do not be late at all for subsequent hours. The instructor might or might not allow you into the classroom if you are late.
- You are expected to know everything that was announced in the classroom. There does not necessarily have to be an announcement on Ninova. If you have missed a class, ask your classmates if there were any announcements that you need to know.
- Any form of cheating or plagiarism will not be tolerated. This includes actions such as, but not limited to, submitting the work of others as one's own (even if in part and even with modifications) and copy/pasting from other resources (including Internet pages, even if attributed). Serious offenses will be reported to the faculty administration for disciplinary measures.
